

Above: On the left is what Ebola virus does to the blood vessels without melatonin administered. The right shows how melatonin preserves the endothelial cells from the damaging effects of the virus!